

Taking into account the EMAS Sectoral Reference document for the waste management sector

In a nutshell

SUMMARY
It is best practice to consider the Best Environmental Management Practices identified and presented in the EMAS Sectoral Reference Document for the waste management sector and to report on the indicators provided in that document.
Target group
Public administrations in charge of waste management.
Applicability
This best practice is applicable to all public administrations in charge of waste management.
Environmental performance indicators
N/A
Benchmarks of excellence
N/A

Description

It is best practice for all public administrations in charge of waste management to consider the Best Environmental Management Practices identified and presented in the Report 'Best Environmental Management Practices for the waste management sector' developed by the JRC^[1]. It is moreover considered best practice for public administrations also to report on the indicators provided in that document.

^[1] Report on Best Environmental Management Practice for the waste management sector:
<http://susproc.jrc.ec.europa.eu/activities/emas/documents/WasteManagementBEMP.pdf>